

Job opening – Junior Commercial Officer

About Us:

Cormorant Commodities is the trusted supply chain partner for all organic feed and food materials. Our head office is based in Amsterdam, The Netherlands but we operate on a global level. The company was founded in 2012 and has since seen a steady growth. During this period we have developed several strategic and long-term partnerships with producers and clients around the globe.

Due to our vast network of suppliers and customers we are flexible and efficient in our offerings in terms of availability, quality, pricing and quantity. In addition, our team has many years of experience and expertise in the domains of international trade, supply chain management, product application and technical knowledge. For our clients we manage the purchasing, shipping, storage and deliveries upon request and we do so to their doorstep.

Do you want to make a change and grow the organic sector with a small and dedicated team? Contact us now.
